OSHA Compliance: It's YOUR Business!

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

- Have you heard about OSHA's Increase in Citations?
- Do you have an all hazard Emergency Action Plan (EAP)? OK... So you have one somewhere in your office, what about the project office? You know, for that five-year project you worked so hard to get?
- Do you know that new requirements will make you OSHA 300 log public record?
- Are you using a Job Observation report to catch changes in scope and changing site conditions? These changes could mean you need to add PPE or mitigate new risks you have identified in your report.
- Are you using your project's Job Hazard Analysis (JHA) and your PPE assessment for that project daily? Wait! You don't know where it is? You aren't using it every day?

Too many questions? These are but the 'tip of the iceberg' from the standpoint of full compliance with OSHA regulations. You may think OSHA recordkeeping is boring, but your OSHA 300 log will be a public record everyone can see, potential clients and competitors alike. This Safety session will give you updates on changes in OSHA regulations and help you become more aware of ways in which you can make your company a safer place to work. Have lunch and a conversation about safety with us. For the cost of this session, you could gain knowledge that may save you thousands.
