

Joint Meeting with PMI

The Habits of Highly Effective Scheduling

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

Projects are becoming more and more complex and costly, requiring greater attention to the management of both time and resources. Critical Path Method scheduling concepts, tools, and techniques are applicable to the majority of industries that rely on planning and scheduling professionals to effectively manage work. This presentation will focus on some of the principles used by schedulers to effectively communicate your plan, establish production goals, monitor and manage progress and manage change in your projects and programs.

FEATURED SPEAKER

Sylvia Donado works in scheduling/project controls for Vali Cooper International, LLC with her most recent project experience being for the US Department of Energy Strategic Petroleum Reserve and US Dept. of Veteran Affairs. She has over 15 years of experience in the construction and engineering industry including projects for the USACE, Valero Refinery, The School Board of Broward County, The City of Baton Rouge, and The University of Miami. She received her BA in 2003 from Columbia College Chicago with an Interior Architecture concentration beginning her career in hospitality design. She became involved with PMI in 2009 after moving to New Orleans. For the PMI GNO chapter she currently serves as President Elect and has served as VP of Membership in 2014 as well as President in 2018. She has also volunteered for PMI Leadership Meetings and Global Congresses since 2012. She was also previously the secretary/treasurer for the Construction Management Association, S. Florida Chapter. A native of Chicago, she is fluent in Spanish and in her spare time likes dancing, drawing/painting, writing poetry, smoking a good cigar and reading scheduling/ project management resource books.
